

STUDENT PROGRAMS

Be Part of Something Great

Sonoran University of Health Sciences is committed to supporting students as they train to excel as healthcare professionals. University programs that directly support student academic success include tutoring for all students, and NPLEX review and honors tracks for ND students. Co-curricular opportunities, that encourage student development and involvement at all levels of the University, are also available. These opportunities include peer mentoring, campus hosted conferences, career development engagements, community meetings, and on-campus and virtual employment.

- Academic Support Programs (<https://catalog.sonoran.edu/student-handbook/student-programs/academic-programs/>)
- Student Support Programs (<https://catalog.sonoran.edu/student-handbook/student-programs/student-support-programs/>)